BIG SHELL MYSTERIES.

Mon Turned to Wasen Images Or Killed by Wind Pressure.

Reference is made by the British Medical Journal to some of the mysterious tragedles at the front, as for instance, when such desthe have occurred in groups, the men still life-like, in the aut of eating or drinking or smoking-so much so that the assailants hesitate to approach until the unnatural immobility shows what has happened. One spectator compared such a group to figures in a waxwork exhibition.

Again, a big shell explodes, and the man mear by are rolled over by the concussion without being struck by any of the fragments. They got up, feeling rather stunued, but in the course of a few hours.

or a day or two, they collapse and die without presenting any obvious injury. But post-mortem examination reveals, extensive damage to internal organs, especially the hollow viscors. A plausible hypothesis is that either the enormous momentary pressure of a big shell bursting forces air into the exvities of the b dy, or the temperary vacuum that follows violently disturbe atmospheric conditions within the body, inflicting extensive lesions. "If this be so, it would be the strict equivalent of the wind of the cannon ball which performed such extraordinary feats in the annals of ancient military lore."

Night p trolling between the trenches is also an important feature. One little party had an exciting adventure a few nights ago. A party of tive men, which included a former Oxford professor; set out shortly before midnight to explore a certain hedge actom a field close to a German trench. The hedge, it was thought, might conceal machine guns or defensive works. Making their way nith the utmost caution across the rough ground separating the two trenches, expecting their presence to be revealed at any moment by a flare from the enemy's trench, the little band at last reached the hedge. Suddenly a cough was heard from the other side, and the five immediat ly flung themselves flat and waited. A nother cough came in a few minutes, and then a German head was poked through the twigs Without a movent's hesitation the officer with the party shot the man doed, and then, regardless of the numbers that might be lying behind the hedge, charged through it, clusely followed by four privates. At a single word of pessimism or murmuring, women are ready not only to take umbrige, but to denounce the offender as a traitor to the public weal. THE hurden of obesity is so distressing and so unprepossessing, and is gen-orally to difficult to get rid of with any degree of permanence, that the introduc-tion to Hongkong of the Jamous British Specific Antipon will be welcome in many quarters. The proparation is not unknown here already, but the obstacles in the way of its supply to the general public were necessarily great. All difficulties are now

Ere the important discovery of Antipon the treatments usually employed for the reduction of weight included starration dietary rules, sweating and purging, to-gether with mineral drugging. All those things are weakening in the extreme, and, when obstinately persisted in, rules to the constitution. Antipon is diametrically opposed to such drastic methods.

To expel the superfluous facty matter from the system is all very well, but the body must be amply nourished at the same time. Now, Antipon not only rapidly eliminates the excess of fat, but overcomes the unfortunate tendency to "run to fat," Ample wholesome food therefore becomes Antipon's strongth-giving ally, and there is no need to droad that the extra neurishment tiken will bring about a re-develop ment of excessive fatty tissue.

Every dose of Antipon is a sure step in the direction of the recovery of beauty of form and vigorous nervous energy.

The decrease of weight is not a tedious process. Within twenty-four hours of the first does there is a reduction varying according to individual conditions, between on to 3 lb. The scales will be the uncring recorder. The daily decrease is eminually satisfactory. When mormal weight and symmetrical proportions are regained the treatment is no longer neces; Antipon contains only the most harmless regetable substances in solution, the liquid being in appearance like a light red wine.

It is palatable, refreshing and slightly tart, and never occasions any unpleasant reactionary effects. Antipon can be obtained at all drug stores, from stock or to order, or in case of to do "sans benefice," though if they carn

Following these theoretic studies of the can inventivenes, applied the accumulated information in concrete form. He found that all ploctric motor, revolving at a certain speed, produced a nuzying sound resembling the singing of mosquitoes. In 11.00 p.m. to 11.45 p.m. every quarter of fact, the sound proved of such attraction to the injects, that they flocked to it by thousands. By surrounding the machine with a metal screen charged with a powerful current, all the mo-quitioes that alighted on the screen were instantly electrocuted. Sir Hirant Maxim used this test to show that when the buzzing resembled that of a female mosquito, it was the males who flow to their death, and that a slight increase in the speed, imitative of the male buzzing, attracted the females. The resulting destruction was complete. Those who have no electrocutional machines can try the effect of wearing yellow clothes and talking little, and see what effect, if any, this has in preventting postiforous mosquito bites

The Chairman, in moving the adoption of the report and accounts, said:—"The year under review has seen the withdrawal of a large number of regular liners using Hongkong as a port of call and this with the reduction of the garrison here has caused a large failing off in the demand for meat and dairy produce. Your Directors, however, are pleased to be able to lay before you results which should be considered eminently estimated when the various causes, that have gone to interfere with our normal and regular trade, are taken into consideration. It is proposed to write off on account of Bad Debts and Depreciation 818,987.70, to pay a Dividend of $1.25 and to carry forward $1,315.92. THE ALLIES AT SALONIKA.

THE LANDING DESCRIBED.

London, Oct. 8.

The Salonika correspondent of the Milan Secolo describes the landing of the Allies. He says that great trans-Atlantic liners, followed by smaller transports, arrived all laden with material. Escorted by destroyers, they entered the harbour at 8 o'clock in the morning, while warships guarded the entrance.

The landing began at 9 o'clock. Greek gendames kept order. Waiting on the quay were a Greek colonel, two French colonels, and Serbian staff-officers... Opposite the quay were Greek transports with the mobilised troops from the Pineus.

When the first French detachment landed, the French Minister at the discount on the latter being at one Athens welcomed them with a condial message. The first gun was landed at 9.30. The soldiers in companies, pro-

This vigour is a welcome indication that the enemy is concentrating his reserves either on the Champagne front or at the two points first menaced of the whole line. Meanwhile it is pointed out that the furious cannonading in the Roya-Lassigny-Compiegne tector, which is an angle in the great line from the sea to the Vosges, and between the Meuse and the Moselle, conveys arthe Germans a message of serious import.

ATTITUDE OF THE KING AND PREMIER.

LONDON Oct. 7.

Despatches from Greece show that the crisis began on the day of the mobilization. The King and M. Venezelos were both agreed as to the necessity for mobilization but differed as to its object. The causes of the imbroglio are most obscure, but sufficient emerges from the accounts of the debates in the Chamber to show the King's inability to follow M. Venezelos' policy in its entirety. This means that while approving the passage of the Allies for the defence against a Balgarian attack, the King refused to sanction the Allies occupying a base for an offensive against Bulgaria or her allies.

The sinister feature of the situation has been the revelation of a disposition among certain Greek politicians, some of whom are pro-German, to deal with the Greco-Serbian Treaty as a "sorap of paper," considering that it has lapsed because Serbia had agreed to make concessions to Balgaria.

WESTERN FRONT.

FURIOUS GERMAN COUNTER-ATTACKS DEFEATED

Following on the French success in Champagne the Germans furiously counter-attacked, and suffered a heavy defeat.

To-day's communique says:-The enemy violently bombarded the whole front. We completely repulsed four successive counter-attacks against the captured positions

There was an intense reciprocal bombardment southward of the Somme and also northward of the Aisne, especially in the Tracy-le-Val

The Germans in Champagne resumed a furious effensive at the end of the day against the positions they had lost northward of Tahure. The offensive failed everywhere, with very heavy losses for the enemy. A violent cannonade continues at Flirey.

A strong enemy reconnaissance attempted to rush our trenches in Lorraine, in the region of Athienvill. The Germans were stopped in front of our wire entanglements, and were thrown back by curtains of fire and infantry fusilades.

GERMAN LINES AGAIN PENETRATED.

There is a momentous admission in to-day's Berlin communique which states:- "Two fresh French Divisions succeeded in penetrating our lines at one point in the direction of Saint Marie. Saint Marie is on the stream northward of the railway which forms the German vital line of communications with the Crown Prince.
